
CORRECTION

Chu B, Ferguson MS, Chen H, Hippe DS, Kerwin WS, Canton G, Yuan C, Hatsukami TS. Cardiac Magnetic Resonance Features of the Disruption-Prone and the Disrupted Carotid Plaque. J Am Coll Cardiol Img 2009;2:883–96.

The title of this article incorrectly uses cardiac magnetic resonance instead of MRI. The correct title should be: Magnetic Resonance Imaging Features of the Disruption-Prone and the Disrupted Carotid Plaque.

Additionally, the text of the article should have used the term magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) instead of cardiac magnetic resonance (CMR).

doi:10.1016/j.jcmg.2009.07.003

Gould KL. Does Coronary Flow Trump Coronary Anatomy? J Am Coll Cardiol Img 2009;2:1009–23.

On page 1019, in the #6 section a sentence contains incorrect symbols. The correct sentence is printed below:

A CFR of <1.0 indicates a fall in perfusion during stress to below resting levels, or myocardial steal.

We apologize for this error.

doi:10.1016/j.jcmg.2009.08.001